Swaziland (Part 2)

Ngwempisi hiking trails: Just one hour's drive South of Mbabane through the fertile and beautiful Malkerns's Valley to Mankayane, one of Swaziland's oldest towns dotted with quaint buildings, takes adventure seekers to one of the most ruggedly beautiful areas of Swaziland. The Ngwempisi River has sliced its way through the sandstone and shale of the Ntfun-gulu hills to create the Ngwempisi Gorge, a land where midlevel and lowveld savannah typify this eco-region. Here flatlands and undulating hills range from a mere 50 metres above sea level to 800 metres above sea level. This is an example of the diverse geology prevalent in Swaziland that makes it the strikingly beautiful country it is – and ensures that hiking here is always a challenging and satisfying experience. Mahamba Gorge Lodge: Tumbling waterfalls, racing rapids, giant patholes scoured out of water-course beds, mountains and forests – mighty rivers gouging their routes from the South African hinterland through Swaziland and beyond, to the coastline of Mozambique. At Mahamba Gorge Lodge take the opportunity to appreciate how nature's crafters have created the dramatic landscape that is Swaziland.

At Mahamba Gorge Lodge you can hike, mountain bike (bring your own), fish – or simply relax in comfort in a wonderfully peacefully environment. You can “live the culture” through tours and traditional music, and even take traditional dancing lessons. The reception area is handicap-access

The Hhohho Region: Covering the western part of Swaziland from the North and running southwards to the centre, Hhohho was named after the capital of king Mswati II, who expanded the Swazi territory to the north and west, taking in the districts of Barberton, Nelspruit, Carolina and Piet Retief. These areas were later acquired by the Transvaal and today they form part of the Mpumalanga Province in South Africa.

The northern town of Pigg's Peak is named after William Pigg who discovered a gold reef nearby. Today, the main industry in the area is the forestry although the advent of the Muguga Dam. The Muguga area is also being developed for tourism and is becoming a popular venue for boating.

The main hotel in the Orion Pigg's Peak, which is set on the main rout between the Kruger National Park in South Africa and Mbabane and is an ideal stopover for visitors. Nearby is the Peak Fine Craft Centre, where there are diverse and interesting shops that are certainly worth a browse. These include Coral Stephens, where locally created mohair products are available.

The historic mining of Bulembu to the west of Pigg's Peak lies at the end of a 19 km scenic drives that take the visitor near Devil's Bridge on the slopes of Emlembe, the highest mountain in Swaziland. This village, which nestles at the foot of the mountain, is near the now defunct asbestos mine.

Phophonyane Falls Lodge and Natural Reserve

Phophonyane Falls Lodge is quietly tucked away in the phophonyane Falls Nature reserve offering breathtaking surroundings. The Phophonyane River runs through the reserves in a series of waterfalls and cascades with the sound of running water providing a sense of calm at the lodge. Walkways lead from the accommodation through water gardens which merge with the river's edge onto one of the world's oldest rock formations (3.5 billion years old). The walking trails through the forests after views of the majestic Gobolondlo and Makhonjwa Mountain Ranges and the Ntfontjeni Valley. The reserve is home to small mammals and 230 birds species including the elusive Narina Trogon, Purple Crested Lourie and Wood Owl.
